11. OTHER BUSINESS

- a. SD-2406: Request for a RPUD Amendment, Preliminary Plat, and Construction Plan Approval for the Crestwood Subdivision located on U.S Highway 1 across from Terra Mar Village.

Ryan Solstice, Development Services Director, stated the subdivision was initially approved as Worthington Creek with 288 units on 159 acres. The new proposal lowers this to 254 units. Throughout an 18-month review, staff suggested several amendments:

Converting private roads to public roads to promote connectivity.

Installing three (3) traffic speed tables maintained by the HOA.

Converting 6-foot walking paths to 5-foot paths to reduce impervious surface.

Adding a 530-foot littoral shelf with minimum 2,310 littoral plants adjacent to preserved wetland.

The public road conversion would cost taxpayers for maintenance but generate an estimated $750,000-$1,000,000 annually in revenue. Staff believes public roads are crucial for triggering traffic lights and improving safety in the area.

Mayor Depew opened the public hearing.

J. Christie Wilson III, 601 North Fern Creek Avenue, Orlando, attorney for applicant, confirmed their agreement with staff recommendations.

Councilwoman Gillis stressed that the development had been approved decades earlier and highlighted that the amendment reduced the approved number of units, which was beneficial despite the challenges of assuming road maintenance responsibilities.

Councilman Rainbird appreciated Mr. Solstice and the Development Services Departments' approach to negotiating improvements and concessions.

Mayor Depew echoed sentiments about the amendment leading to a reduction in units as a favorable outcome, emphasizing the improved public safety.
